HAIL AND FAREWELL

A few more days and we shall receive the parchments that mark the passage of four years. They were years of training for our future participation in American life. Of book learning there was much, but what will never fade from our brains are the counsels of truth, justice and beauty that our parents, our teachers, our principal have given us.

We trust we too gave something in return: faith and courage to continue the great process of education for democracy that has made us, sprung from many stocks and races, proud, above all, of our title: Americans!
